hc1's Nick Noblet Selected as Indy's Best and Brightest Finalist

Junior Achievement of Central Indiana honors 100 of central Indiana's most outstanding young professionals, age 40 and under, in 10 different industries

INDIANAPOLIS (Feb. 16, 2023) — hc1, the leader in extrapolating real-time insights from complex laboratory data, announced today Nick Noblet, Ph.D, scrum master, has been selected as a finalist in the category of Technology for the 2023 Indy's Best and Brightest Awards. Indy's Best and Brightest Awards were created by Junior Achievement to recognize the next generation of leaders in our community. The event honors 100 of central Indiana's most outstanding young professionals, age 40 and under, in 10 different industries.

An awards program and reception to recognize these outstanding young professionals will take place on Thursday, March 23, 2023, at the Hilbert Circle Theatre, located at 45 Monument Circle in Indianapolis. All 100 finalists will be recognized during the event and one winner from each industry will be announced.

Noblet brings a depth of knowledge and experience to his role as scrum master at hc1. His ability to facilitate the scrum process for multiple product-focused development and design teams helps enhance and streamline the processes by which the organization achieves its goals. His deep intellect combined with his strong verbal and written communication skills have been vital to the success of hc1 projects. It is through his ability to help remove roadblocks, create efficient processes and diligently engage with clients to deliver value that helps hc1 deliver solutions that ensure the right patient gets the right test and the right prescription at the right time.

“Nick is dedicated to finding answers to the biggest challenges facing labs and health systems and on behalf of the entire team at hc1, I congratulate him on being named one of Indy's Best and Brightest,” said Michael Braverman, president of hc1 Insights. “This recognition is well deserved and illustrates the incredible possibilities that exist for talented young professionals to build meaningful and rewarding careers by growing innovative technology companies right here in Indiana.”
